learn the disturbing
consequences
of Amendment 4 as well as the grassroots
campaign
designed to defeat it.

Florida is currently facing one of the greatest threats to its economy and quality-of-life: Amendment 4. This "Vote on Everything" amendment would force Florida voters — not the representatives they elected — to regularly decide hundreds of technical land-use planning issues at the ballot box.

Designed to bring economic growth to a halt, Amendment 4 will solidify the loss of nearly 500,000 Florida jobs. Due to the expense, red-tape and uncertainty imposed by Amendment 4, new businesses will find it virtually impossible to move to Florida. Existing businesses will find it nearly impossible to grow and Florida's working families will suffer the most.
